'Knight Life' No Guide To Dining, Night Spots

By TOD GULIC
Bishop Montgomery High

It's not a guide to medieval night spots. "Knight Life" is Bishop Montgomery High's official newspaper.

Appearing monthly with four pages of school news, editorials, feature articles, and sports news, "Knight Life" tries to inform, encourage, and entertain the student body.

This year, "Knight Life" staffers are supervised by moderator Sister Carmela, CSJ, and co-editors David Abend, and Kathy Anderson. Page editors are Miss Anderson, Abend, Margaret Price, and Bill Bedworth. The staff includes 24 students.

The newspaper first appeared at Bishop Montgomery six years ago. Its purpose was, and is, to promote school spirit and develop journalistic talent. It is not the product of a journalism class, but an extra-curricular activity for students.

Membership in the National Scholastic Press Association, the International Quill and Scroll Society, and the Catholic Press Association are claimed by the newspaper.

What the staff lacks in numbers, it makes up for in quality and hard work. High-quality writing is the chief concern of the editors and the moderator, who require near perfection in each article. Student writers often have their stories returned for rewriting two, three, or even four times.

Last year, under the direction of Sister Anne Marie, CSJ, "Knight Life" was honored by Quill and Scroll Society. It received the International First Place Award for substantial achievement. The paper also received an All-Catholic rating from the Catholic Press Association.

Chamber Has Military Sales Guide Available for Firms

As a service to members who wish to sell products to the military establishment and the AEC, the Torrance Chamber of Commerce will make available copies of the recently published "Sales Manager's Guide To Southwestern Bases," a publication of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

The directory lists locations and personnel, by title, of military installations in California, Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico, West Texas and Utah, and the purchasing and liaison offices in the Los Angeles area.

In addition the guide presents general suggestions for selling to these installations. It lists the buying officer, and the types of supplies normally handled.

Those firms desiring a copy may contact the Chamber by telephoning FA 8-2814.
